DESCRIPTION: We will provide the services of a Russian-speaking guide in the theme parks Universal Studios Florida and Universal's Islands of Adventure, both owned by the famous company NBC Universal, which produces films. Therefore, the park is entirely dedicated to the creation of cinema and animation, where all the attractions are dedicated to the plots of the films.

The park is impressive in everything, starting with a giant multi-story parking lot with its own names on each floor: "King Kong", "Jurassic Park"... From the parking lots, escalators - moving paths lead to the parks through City Walk - an entertainment center with many cafes and restaurants with live music, dance and performance venues.

At Universal Studios, you are greeted from the entrance by the Terminator 3D attractions (movie action with real actors emerging from the screen and defeating cyborgs), and the Hollywood Rip Ride Rockit, a dizzying, fast, vertical roller coaster. There is Revenge of the Mummy, Shrek and Donkey, Man in Black, Harry Potter, Transformer and many other crazy rides. Everyone leaves unforgettable impressions in their own way, and one can only regret that they pass by so quickly. And it's upsetting that you have to stand in line for every attraction. During the season, lines, as in Disney parks, reach more than 1 hour. This is indicated at the beginning of each queue (approximately). You can buy a ticket about 50% more expensive - for fast queues - it will reduce standing by about 4 times (the queue for those who skip the queue). If you sacrifice sociability, you can go on a single ride (single - in a row, for example, a group of 3 people sat together. A single person from a short "single ride" queue is seated for finishing).

You can move from Universal to Islands of Adventure without leaving the park - by train (steam locomotive). This in itself is a fun ride with centaurs and Harry Potter along for the ride. And road adventures already begin right at the boarding - passengers at some point disappear right before your eyes, and it is even possible to record this on video - how your relatives and friends will simply disappear from sight right in front of you.

In Island of Adventure, Harry Potter again meets you, flying with you and ahead of you on a broom, helping you literally escape from the bony hands of Death and fight off a fire-breathing dragon (the steam from its mouth - you will really feel the heat).

Fun slides and raft rides where you are sure to get wet. No problem. There are special dryers or you can buy a raincoat. Or you can just do it - open up to the splashes and fountains - this is Florida, after all - you'll dry quickly. But there is a lot of squealing, delight, and impressions.

The Hulk rollercoaster that shoots you at the very beginning - a huge roller coaster the height of a 16-story building - carries you in a chair in huge 5-meter loops.

Dragon Battle is a roller coaster with huge loops and speed, like two dragons that carry you and circle you, dancing their sinister dance.

Epic on the Island of Adventures is the attraction "The Amazing Adventures of Spider-Man", where you fall into the path of the evil and all-powerful negative heroes of the movie "Spider-Man", but Spider-Man saves you from their really scorching flamethrowers and pulls you out with a net when you fall from a skyscraper onto the asphalt. It excites both big and small (even 5-year-olds can ride).

In the evening there is a powerful musical fireworks display.

You can't list everything and you can't try it all even in a few days. Once again, I would like to note that Universal parks are entire cities of entertainment, where both big and small, and even the smallest children, have exciting areas and shows in both parks - for every taste.

Tickets cost: one park $124, both parks (on the same day) $179. Children's tickets are slightly cheaper. Prices may vary during the season.

And Univesal is also completing the construction of a huge, bright, impressive, very, very water park. I hope that very soon we will be able to ride Universal's Volcano Bay water slides.

The price for guide services is for 5 hours!
